Commercial & Technology Transactions

---

Our commercial and technology transactions team helps clients execute the products and relationships that launch, support and scale their businesses. We provide practical and inventive counsel to help bridge business, technical and legal needs grounded in our significant experience structuring and negotiating commercial, technology and licensing agreements and advising on new business lines, product development and partner integrations. Our cross-functional team includes attorneys with deep experience advising growth-stage technology companies, years of leading in-house legal functions and backgrounds in technical fields. We combine experience in commercial contracts and licensing, technology procurement, product advising, corporate and financing transactions, intellectual property and dispute resolution in a comprehensive practice focused on efficient and effective results for our clients.
