Ben Boris Participates in Alumni Attorney Talks hosted by the University of Illinois

Ben Boris, an associate in the Litigation & Disputes practice group, participated in the University of Illinois' series "Alumni Attorney Talks" on October 9. The Pre-Law Advising Services at the University of Illinois hosted a virtual program to provide students considering a career in the legal field with valuable information about law school and pursuing a legal career. This program features alumni, now practicing attorneys, who discuss their backgrounds, professional and educational journeys and careers.
