David Wheeler Quoted in LegalTech News on Cybersecurity in 2024

David Wheeler, partner in the Intellectual Property group and leader of our Cybersecurity & Data Privacy team leader, offered his take on what we can expect in the cybersecurity arena in 2024. The article "Legal Tech's Predictions for Cybersecurity in 2024," published by LegalTech News, discusses cybersecurity predictions for 2024, including the expectation of evolving ransomware attacks, increased focus on securing AI tools, the rise of passkeys for authentication, and the growing importance of disclosing breaches promptly. David emphasizes the need for internal governance and compliance initiatives, especially at the intersection of AI and cybersecurity, to address future threats.
